Russell Quant Mystery Series

The Russell Quant Series

Russell Quant is our man, an ex-cop turned detective whose work takes him to France, New York, the Mediterranean and the Canadian Arctic. With an unflinching sense of humour, he's bright, caring and charming but with enough human flaws to keep readers rooting for him. Quant is single, gay and fully engaged in life with friends and family.

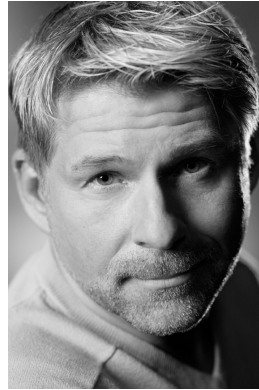

Saskatoon provides the setting for the clash of prairie and urban, gay and straight, trendy and traditional. Blending character, place and culture, Bidulka creates novels of intrigue, wit and travel. He delivers a solid mystery and a compelling cast with splashes of socio-political and pop-cultural insight.

Media Coverage

Anthony Bidulka earned great media attention with his debut novel. He continues to receive media interest alongside his book award nominations. From print, television, and radio interviews to features and book reviews, the following is a small sample of coverage.
