Stain of the Berry: A Russell Quant Mystery
Dallas - San Antonio – Houston

Canadian prairies are on equal footing with other great locales around the world—Paris, New York, Barcelona, the Arctic—as gay Canadian detective, Russell Quant, traipses the globe on the heels of bad guys, always returning home to where he lives a big life in a small city. Along with writer Caro Soles, Anthony Bidulka is undergoing a three city Texas tour including:

Dallas: Sunday, May 6, 2007 at Sources of Hope Bookstore at Cathedral of Hope, 5910 Cedar Springs Road. The signings will be at 10:15 a.m., and 12:15 (immediately follow two morning services.) Contact Sue Schrader at sschrader@cathedralofhope.com for further event information.

San Antonio: Tuesday, May 8, 2007 at Remember the Alibi Mystery Bookstore, 8055 West Ave #101 at 6:00 p.m. Contact Ray Hengst at rtalibi@sbcglobal.net for further event information.

Houston: Wednesday, May 9, 2007 at Murder by the Book, 2342 Bissonnet Street at 6:00 p.m. Contact David at david@murderbooks.com for further event information.

Saskatoon, Saskatchewan provides the main setting in this series for the clash of prairie and urban, gay and straight, trendy and traditional. Blending character, place and culture, Bidulka creates novels of intrigue, wit, action and travel.

In 2005, Bidulka became the first Canadian to win the Lambda Literary Award for Best Men's Mystery. Amongst a flurry of critical raves, Quill & Quire claimed: "The best thing about Bidulka's mysteries is the cast of by now well-developed, endearing characters...", The Globe & Mail noted: "There's plenty of action here, and Bidulka spreads it out with witty dialogue, smart commentary and plenty of good, sharp writing." Lambda Book Report says: "Bidulka is at his finest in his depictions of ordinary life..."
